

The H

| | | | | | |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| All states passed laws taking away women's right to vote. | | The first anti-slavery conference is held in New York City | | | The Declaration of Sentiments was presented at the Seneca Falls convention on women's rights |
| 1777 | 1821 | 1837 | 1839 | 1844 | 1848 |
| Emma Hart Willard founds the Troy Female Seminary in New York--the first endowed school for girls. | Mississippi is the first state to say that women can hold property. | | | Female textile workers in Massachusetts organize the Lowell Female Labor Reform Association (LFLRA) and demand a 10-hour workday. | |

"The history of mankind is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations on the part of man toward woman, having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over her".

Human Timeline Student Sample

History of Women's Rights in the United States: 1777-1869

"Den dat little man in black dar, he say women can'y have as much rights as men, 'cause Christ wasn't a woman! Where did your Christ come from?"
Sojourner Truth

The women's rights movement splits into two factions: the National Women's Suffrage Association formed by Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony and the American Woman Suffrage Association founded by Lucy Stone, Henry Blackwell, and Julia Ward Howe.

1866

Stanton and Anthony form the American Equal Rights Association, an organization for white and black women and men dedicated to the goal of universal suffrage

The territory of Wyoming was the first to give women the right to vote.

"Because man and woman are the complement of one another, we need woman's thought in national affairs to make a safe and stable government." Elizabeth Cady Stanton