

Communicating with Google

Presentation by:

Xavier

Kelsey

Maya

What Our Audience Wants

- 80% would like information by e-mail
- 92% want a calendar
- 85% said a Web site with homework links and school resources would be helpful
- 58% want a way to share resources between different locations, like home and school

Virtual Communications

- Do you want a communication tool that you can communicate from anywhere?
- Where one login ID and password can give you access to all your communicating needs?
- Then communicating with Google is the solution!

Key Features of Google

- Create one account that provides access to the following features:
 - Web sites
 - Groups
 - Calendar
 - Gmail – or e-mail
 - Chat
 - Documents
 - Sharing documents, spreadsheets, and presentations
 - Creating surveys

What Is Needed to Share Information?

- Nothing

- This is for all publicly shared pieces of information

OR

- An e-mail address

- To invite users to view different parts of information being shared

All Things Google

- Multiple features
- Choice of choosing to share information with or without an account
- Cost – FREE
- Meets the needs of our target audience and gives them features like chat that they did not ask for!

The End

We hope you have enough information about Google to consider using it as a communication tool.