NOTICE

This software is provided as "pre-release" software for the purpose of your testing and evaluation to enable your qualification schedules to align closely with the final Intel public release. Pre-release means the software which has not completed final validation, may contain bugs or functional deficiencies, and may be modified by or for Intel prior to final release.

 The provided software is not intended for public disclosure, use in a production environment, or use by any end customer or anyone other than your internal software evaluation personnel.

You understand, acknowledge and agree that: (i) pre-release software may not be fully tested and may contain bugs, errors or functional deficiencies; (ii) pre-release software is not suitable for commercial release in its current state; (iii) regulatory approvals for pre-release software (such as UL or FCC) have not been obtained, and pre-release software may therefore not be certified for use in certain countries or environments and (iv) Intel can provide no assurance that it will ever produce or make generally available a production version of the pre-release software. Intel is not under any obligation to develop and/or release or offer for sale or license a final product based upon the pre-release software and may unilaterally elect to abandon the pre-release software or any such development platform at any time and without any obligation or liability whatsoever to You or any other person.

Intel Corporation requests that you do not release, publish, or distribute this pre-release software until you are specifically authorized. These terms are deleted upon publication of this software.